Posted on 25 Oct, 2014 by JayCee File size: 0.07 MB Routine 2005 Toyota Camry maintenance is mandatory in order to keep a 2005 Toyota Camry running properly. The following guidelines are the approximate intervals many 2005 Toyota Camry manufacturers suggest auto maintenance service be performed. However, always refer to the owner's manual, dealer or authorized service professional for the particular service and intervals required. Every 3,000 to 7,000 Miles The oil and oil filter should be replaced according to the manufacturer's recommended auto maintenance schedule with a majority suggesting the oil and oil filter be replaced between 3,000 and 7,000 miles. Furthermore, inspection of the transmission fluid level, coolant, power steering fluid, windshield washer fluid and wipers, tires and all exterior lights is also encouraged. Every 15,000 to 30,000 Miles Replace the air filter every 15,000 miles. Every 20,000 miles inspect the battery and coolant. Most 25,000-mile maintenance service requires replacing the fuel filter. Every 30,000 miles, replace the air filter and power steering fluid. Inspect the coolant, radiator hoses, HVAC system, brake pads and all suspension components. Every 35,000 to 50,000 Miles Inspect and replace the battery every 35,000 miles, as needed. Every 40,000 miles replace the spark plugs and spark plug wires, and inspect the ignition system and suspension. These checks are recommended again at 45,000 miles and 50,000 miles. Every 60,000 Miles Replace brake pads and brake fluid, radiator hoses, coolant, power steering fluid and timing belt. Inspect the HVAC, suspension components and tires. Oil changes and air filters are very important parts of engine maintenance; however, a thorough inspection of all engine, transmission, cooling, brakes and suspension components should also be performed regularly. The owner's manual provides a routine auto maintenance schedule based on engine mileage for most cars. Are you thinking about buying a Toyota RAV4? MORE FROM QUESTIONSANSWERED.NET Posted at 16:54h in Uncategorized by admin 0 Comments Taking care of your car is taking care of yourself. One make and model that does a great job of taking care of its driver is the Toyota Camry. Known for reliability and in more recent years, even for its style and sport. Each model can be different than another from the same manufacturer. Understanding the Toyota Camry maintenance schedule, much like the general Toyota maintenance schedule will help you take care of the vehicle that has been taking care of you for 5,000 miles or maybe even 500,000 miles. The Camry service schedule or Toyota factory service schedule consists of a few major services as well as regular maintenance along the way. A breakdown for the Camry service intervals can be found below including the mileage and what you should be completed for total Toyota car maintenance. Read on to learn more about the Toyota Camry major service checklist and how it can help you maintain your Camry for years to come. Toyota Camry 5,000 Mile Service Just because your Camry is new doesn't mean you should not bring it in for service. Every new car has the potential to have flaws though this is very unlikely. At your Toyota's 5,000 mile service, you can expect relatively low costs as you should only need new oil, new oil filter, and tire rotation. Variations can occur from weather conditions and driving habits however this is a typical service at 5,000 miles. Moving forward, this type of service should be completed every 5,000 miles leading up to the next milestone in the recommended Toyota maintenance schedule. Toyota Camry 30,000 Mile Service By this point, your Camry has been cruising along and you're ready for your first investment in long-term care for your Toyota. The typical maintenance you should have completed includes a new cabin air filter, air filter replacement, and cooling system flush. Included in this service can be your normal oil change and filter along with rotating your tires. This is a great time to try out a new technician, as we recommend when finding a good mechanic by starting with a small job or service first. The cost for your Camry 30,000 mile service cost should be somewhere between $250 - $500 depending on if you go to a shop or dealer. Toyota Camry 60,000 Mile Service You've doubled the miles from your first investment in your Camry and your car should still be feeling new. As expected, as you put more miles on your car, you will need to replace components you have not yet replaced. At 60,000 miles, the service should include everything from your 30,000-mile service and 5,000-mile service plus now replacing the spark plugs and getting a valve clearance adjustment. The pricing for the 60k service ranges from $275 at a shop to upwards to $785 at the dealership. By now, forming a good relationship with a mechanic shop will help you in many ways including your wallet. Toyota Camry 80,000 Mile Service Take a breath because you and your trustworthy Camry have come quite a ways! Another 10,000 miles have been acquired but not to worry, this next Toyota recommended maintenance schedule appears to be a minor one. At the 80,000 mile service interval, your vehicle may begin to experience wear and tear on particular parts such as the drive belts, motor mounts and hoses. However, for most Camry owners, this generally means a run of the mill oil change, tire rotation, and a filter change. Other inspections may include those for fluid leaks as well as a checkup to listen for strange noises and other irregular changes in the vehicle. Toyota Camry 90,000 Mile Service You've been doing a great job keeping up on your 5,000-mile services and are rewarded with a reliable car that you may even have paid off by now. Your 90,000-mile service is the big one. At this service appointment, expect to complete your 30k mile service and 5k mile service. You will not need to complete your 60k mile service this time around. For your 90,000 service, you should also have a timing belt replacement and water pump replacement. The Toyota Camry 90,000 mile service cost will be your most expensive service appoint with the high range for cost at the dealership hitting close to $1,650. If you are looking for Toyota service in Salt Lake City, we sure hope you have found us already before making this investment. If not, we're happy to take care of this important service for you! Toyota Camry 120k Service As you near the expected life for most new cars, you should find that your Camry is still performing quite well, especially since you have kept up on your scheduled service. Your 120,000-mile service will look nearly identical to your 60,000-mile service. The 120,000-mile service is a combination of the 5k, 30k and 60k service. As your vehicle gets older, you should expect to find minor issues that will also need to be repaired. The 120k Camry service will be a little more than your 60k service and is somewhere between $400 and $1,100 Toyota Camry 150,000 Mile Service You and your technician should now be in a rhythm. Each service that is completed is a combination of services you have done in the past. Your Camry 150,000-mile service will be the 5k and 30k service as you completed the 60,000-mile service 30,000 miles ago. Once again expect to find a thing or two that have worn out over the years. Pricing here can be anywhere from $250 to $1,100. Toyota Camry Maintenance Schedule and Beyond As discussed, you can help extend the life of your Camry by scheduling service based on the suggested Toyota service intervals. Now that you understand the Toyota Camry maintenance schedule, you can confidently take care of your car to make sure that it hits the next milestone with confidence.
